

Which Genres are the most popular across Playlists?

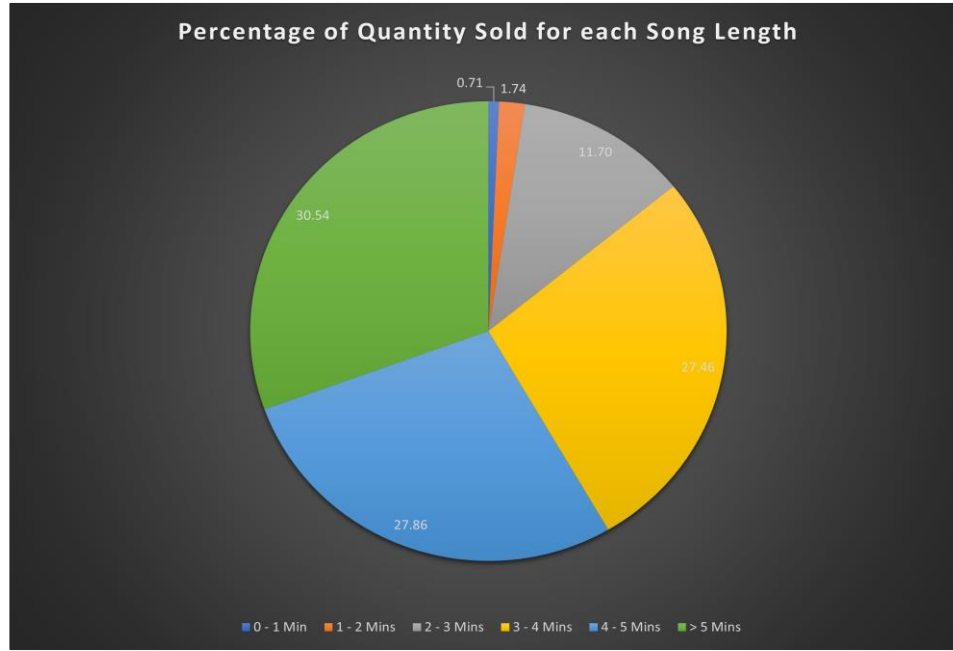

Rock is the most recurring genre in playlist tracks by far. Metal comes in second place, then Classical and Blues. The differences among the remaining genres are not huge.

Which Media Type has sold the highest quantity?

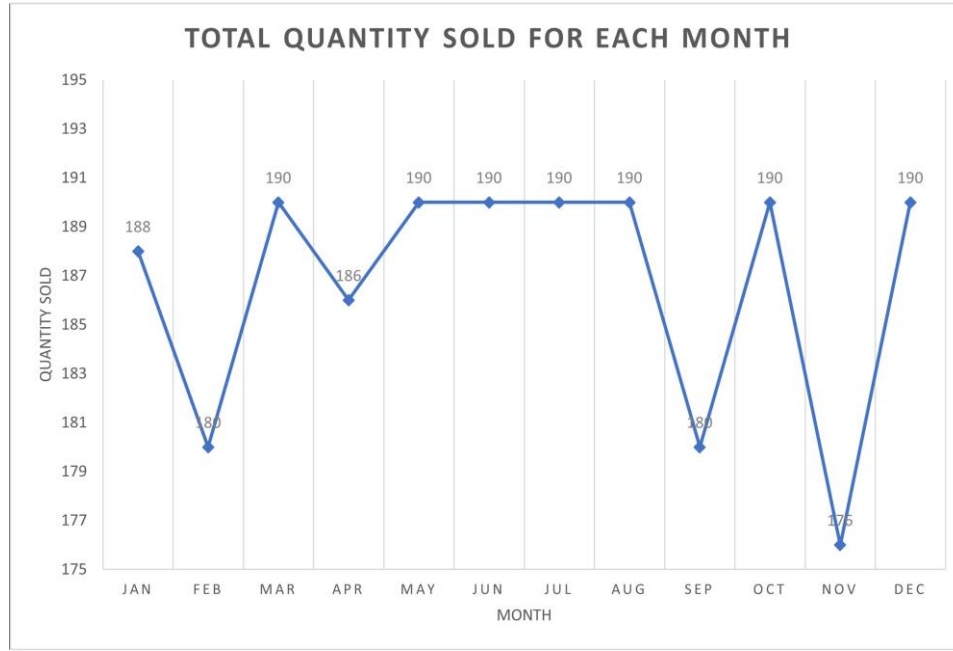

MPEG Audio Files have sold the highest quantity, which is to be expected, given that they are the common standard supported by most players. Protected AAC and MPEG-4 come second and third, respectively, with a small difference between them. Other Types of AAC files come last with a negligible amount of sales.

Which Range of Song Lengths has been sold the most?

Songs longer than 5 minutes are sold the most. This is due to the presence of some extreme values, where songs are 40-88 minutes long. Songs that are 4-5 minutes long come second, very close to songs that are 3-4 minutes long. Then come songs that are 2-3 minutes long. Songs shorter than two minutes come last with a negligible amount.

Which month of the year has the highest sales?

Sales drop from January to February, reach their highest in March, drop again in April. Then increase and stabilize during the Summer, drop in September, rise in October, drop in November, then rise in December.